A very timely 4-hour workshop

Lean methods, made famous by Toyota, are in wide use today, not only in Manufacturing, but also in a wide range of Service and Process-based activities. They provides valuable tools but for any business which utilizes processes — and that includes your business.

Team Members who are knowledgeable about lean principles and tools have been shown to be not only more productive workers, but also happier in their work environment. That translates into greater efficiencies for your company and your customers. This workshop helps you meet those goals.
